WHICH IS YOURS?

A home for the whole family, keeping in mind the next generation

From experience we know that families with children have different needs from singles or older couples regarding their living space. Children need plenty of room with a garden or swimming pool where they are free to play as they want. At the same time it is important that parents can see their children and know that they are safe. You need a terrace so that you can have breakfast or dinner together as a family, nice friendly neighbours with similar interests, then you have everything that is necessary to enjoy life.

Residential complexes like the Residential Iris in Playa Blanca offer all that and more. Grouped around a large communal swimming pool with garden areas, each house has its own terrace with direct access to the pool. Additionally all houses are designed to offer enough room for the whole family, 2 or 3 bedrooms and 2 bathrooms, give you space and comfort. From the balcony there is a panoramic view over the sea and the neighbouring island of Fuerteventura. Parents are always able to keep an eye on their children while they are playing in the garden or are in the swimming pool. The clever layout at the same time provides privacy.

Located near to the well known Papagayo beaches, the position of these houses gives you a perfect opportunity to have a family day out. You can also walk along the seafront promenade to the new sports harbour or the old town, both of which are near. Due to their family-friendly concept these properties have a good rental potential.

Complexes like the Residential Iris are the perfect place to make a home for the whole family, your grandchildren will be forever grateful.
