WHICH IS YOURS?

The ideal concepteverything under one roof

Have you ever dreamed of combining living and working under one roof and do you need space to enjoy your hobbies? Whilst at the same time you want to be near beaches and have a wonderful view? Then houses like El Nido are exactly what you are looking for.

With so many people, external factors can have a negative influence on the quality of life. Valuable time is lost going to and from work and they are unable to fulfil their desires through lack of space. The design of so many houses lacks the capacity to create a warm, and individual home, whereas the residential complex El Nido offers enough space for a really comfortable lifestyle.

The cleverly planned living areas, together with an additional 120 square metres substructure, give you innumerable choices to design your perfect home. The big living room and bedrooms are tastefully decorated, and the large terrace invites you to relax and spend comfy evenings, looking at the unforgettable sunset. Downstairs you can satisfy both your professional and personal dreams, by using this area either as an office, garage, boat storage space, for business purposes, as a hobby area or as an additional apartment. An area that is very versatile for any needs.

Another advantage of this complex is that close by are the sandy beaches of Las Coloradas and Papagayo. The communal swimming pool gives you the luxury of an undisturbed place in which to improve your health or relax in the sun.
